1909-1932

The New York Public Library
Astor Lenox and Tilden Foundations

LENOX LIBRARY BUILDING,
FIFTH AVENUE AND 70TH STREET.

New York 26 April 1909

Dear Sir,

I enclose a letter which I have just received from the Marquis Adriano Colocci.

Will you please let me know if it is possible for him to obtain a specimen of the Vespucci medal, and if so, how much it will cost?

Kindly return me the letter at your convenience

Yours very truly
Geo. F. Black

The Marquis is President of the Department of Public Works in Sicily and lives in Catania.

M. Adriano Amerigo Colocci-Vespucci wishes to procure a copy of the Brenner medal of Amerigo Vespucci which we have published in our Proceedings. He is the only surviving member of the ancient family, and wants to gather all the memorials of his honorable line.

April 29, 1905.

Mr. George F. Black,
New York Public Library,
Fifth Avenue & 70th Street,
New York.

Dear Sir:-

Replying to your favor of the 26th instant, I regret to say that the Society has no duplicates of the Vespucci medal.

The only way that I know to obtain one is to watch the coin sales, and if one comes up, bid it in.

There were but one hundred of these medals struck, and they were subscribed for by members of the Society, should I at any time be able to get hold of one, I will let you know.

Very truly yours

Recording Secretary.

Miss Agnes Baldwin, American Numismatic Society,
156th St. West of Broadway, New York.

Dear Madam:-

Your letter of May 20th is received. A good cataloguer in cataloguing your library would probably do from thirty to forty titles per day, and one competent to do your work could not be obtained for less than $75 per month.

With these data you can probably answer the question of "how much time and at what cost" your library can be catalogued.

I have no one in the Library at present whom I can recommend to you for this work, but have several applications for positions. Among these is Miss Henrietta C. Bartlett, 265 West 72nd St., who has been for six years with Messrs. Dodd, Mead & Co., as cataloguer and general assistant. It might be worth your while to see her.

Dear Sir:

An examination of our file of the "Proceedings and Papers" of the American Numismatic and Archaeological Society shows that the last issue which we have received from you is no. 48 (1906). Number 49 (1907) has come to us through the courtesy of a friend. I write, therefore, to request that you will be kind enough to send us "Proceedings and Papers" no. 50 (1908) and later, if published, to complete our file to date.

THE NEW YORK PUBLIC LIBRARY

ASTOR, LENOX AND TILDEN FOUNDATIONS

THE Reference Department of The New York Public Library is frequently asked to lend books for outside use. These requests it must refuse, because the Reference Department is supported in the main from funds given with the understanding that books bought therefrom be used within the building. An explanation of the Library's policy in this matter is given in the extract (see next page) from the minutes of the Executive Committee, approved by the Board of Trustees December 10, 1913.

The lending department of the Library is the Circulation Department, from which ten million books are lent annually.

POLICY OF THE NEW YORK PUBLIC LIBRARY
WITH REGARD TO LENDING BOOKS FROM ITS REFERENCE COLLECTION

*Extract from the Minutes of the Executive Committee
December 5, 1913*

...The policy of this Library has been consistently opposed to...any loans of reference books. As early as 1857 the Trustees of the Astor Library adopted a resolution declaring it to be "the settled and unchangeable basis of administering the library that its contents should remain in the library rooms, for use by readers there, and should not be lent out or allowed to be taken from the rooms." The same policy, though not formally declared, was pursued by the Lenox Library; and it has also been the policy of The New York Public Library. One result of this has been that scholars from all parts of the United States have felt confidence that they would be sure of finding in this building, at all times, whatever books of reference the Library might possess.

Your Committee are not disposed to recommend any change in a policy which has been in force for so many years. But they are of opinion that exceptions might properly (though rarely) be made, without at all departing from the general rule, in cases where peculiar difficulties exist in the way of those who are conducting serious investigations. One such instance is that recently cited from the American Museum of Natural History, where it was desired to compare specimens of Australian birds with the plates of the rare and costly publication known as Gould's "Birds of Australia," which this Library possesses, and where it would be quite impracticable to bring the specimens to the Library.

It is thought that such a power might properly be lodged with the Library Committee of the Board of Trustees, but that it should be subject to certain restrictions. Thus the books should never be lent to individuals, but only to institutions occupying fireproof buildings in the City of New York; the borrowing institution should be required to agree that it would be absolutely responsible for the safety of the books lent; that it would not permit such books to be taken from its building; and that the books should be returned on demand.

Your Committee therefore recommend the adoption of the following resolutions:

1. RESOLVED: That the report of the Executive Committee be approved, and this Board expresses its conviction of the necessity of adherence to the general policy heretofore prevailing in regard to keeping at all times in the central building, the reference collections belonging to the Corporation.

2. RESOLVED: That the Library Committee shall, however, have power, in exceptional cases and in its discretion, to authorize the loan of a work in the reference library, but subject in all cases to the following conditions, viz.: Loans shall not be made to individuals, but only to institutions occupying fire-proof buildings in the City of New York. A borrowing institution must agree (1) to be absolutely responsible for the safety of every work thus lent to it, (2) not to permit any such work to be taken from its building, (3) to return every such work promptly on demand. In every case a separate application must be made to and passed upon by the Committee, stating the title of the work, the particular purpose for which it is desired, and the probable duration of the loan.

For the Committee,
(Signed) G. L. RIVES,
Chairman.

The foregoing resolutions were adopted by the Board of Trustees at a regular meeting held on December 10, 1913, and constitute the rule of the Library with reference to such loans.

Dear Sir:

Will you kindly advise if this library may borrow on the inter-library loan plan, your copy of J. T. Medina's "Las Medallas Chilenas". Will you, at the same time, advise the maximum duration of time for which this loan is permitted.

Dear Sir:

In reply to your letter of November 26th:

The enclosed leaflet sets forth our practice as to inter-library loans. By it you will see that each case must be considered on its merits, that loans are confined to institutions in New York City occupying fireproof buildings, and that loans can be made only after approval of the request by the Library Committee of the Board of Trustees. The next meeting of the committee comes on December 8th, and we shall be glad then to lay your letter before the committee. We trust this may not prove to be too long a delay in connection with your use of Medina.

Very truly yours,

New York, January 16, 1931.

Mr. Sydney P. Noe, Librarian,
American Numismatic Library,
156th Street and Broadway,
New York, N.Y.

Dear Sir:

The New York Public Library occasionally wishes to obtain for research workers, advanced students, or others, copies of publications or documents which are not in the New York Public Library, and which are either rare or unique. If such books or documents can be located in another library in the country, we sometimes write asking whether the book may be photostated in the library possessing it, and the prints sent to us; or, if the library possessing the desired document does not own a photostat machine, whether the document can be lent to us for photostating here.

In some cases the question has been raised whether the society owning the document or rare book wishes to have it reproduced for use elsewhere. This seems a rather important point, because of the large number of important papers or printed records which exist in only a few, or perhaps in unique copies. The European practice is to lend freely and reproduce without limitation.

In the interest of scholarship, and in particular, to serve as a guide to future requests by this Library, I should like to inquire, first, whether or not you have a photostat machine; second what the policy of your society may be as regards:

- (a) lending books for reproduction here
- (b) making photostatic negatives of printed records
for the use of this library in your own institution
- (c) making photostatic negatives of manuscript material
in your possession
 - (1) in full
 - (2) in part.

Very truly yours,

G. L. Cannon,
Chief of Acquisition Division.

G. I. Cannon, Esq.
Chief of Acquisition Division
The New York Public Library
5th Avenue & 42nd Street
New York City

Dear Sir:

Your letter of January 16th is at hand. Responding to your questions, we have no photostat machine:

- a. We should be willing to loan to the New York Public Library, any of our books for reproduction purposes.
- b. None of the printed records in our library are likely to be so rare as to be excepted from the above statement of willingness to loan.
- c. Without a photostat the answer to this question is obvious.

It might be stated, however, as a supplement to the above, that there is a photostat available among the institutions on this terrace, and should occasion require, we could have photostat copies made here if that seemed less desirable than having the book sent to the New York Public Library or elsewhere.

The attitude of this library is one of desiring to see the books put into use, and of doing anything that will stimulate their use.

I trust this will give you the information you desire.

Very truly yours,

Secretary.

Dear Sir:

The Library has been flattered by a request from the art and music department of the Los Angeles Public Library to "suggest about ten supplementary volumes" to round out the collection of coins owned by that library, the idea being to include one standard work on various periods and various countries. The list of their present holdings sent by them is enclosed herewith, and if anyone connected with the Numismatic Society has the time or inclination to look it over and suggest titles that ought to be included, we shall be glad to pass this information on to the Los Angeles people with your compliments.

Responding to your letter of the 26th, I take pleasure in handing you a supplementary list of about ten titles for the Los Angeles Public Library. I have assumed that they desire the books in English, which somewhat limits the selection. The titles suggested, will, however, round out their shelf.
